

Lufthansa Technik

Component Services

Single Component Maintenance

Serviceable

Lufthansa Technik

Lufthansa Technik AG
Corporate Sales & Marketing
Weg beim Jaeger 193
22335 Hamburg
Germany

Phone +49-40-5070-5553
Fax +49-40-5070-5605
marketing.sales@lht.dlh.de www.lufthansa-technik.com

We know first-hand what just one unserviceable part can mean for an airline's operations. That's why we offer Single Component Maintenance (SCM).

A highly reliable repair process across all manufacturers and technologies, old and new, ensures that your components are returned in serviceable condition with Lufthansa Technik's exemplary quality.

We understand your situation – no matter what problem you are facing as an airline, MRO provider or trader.

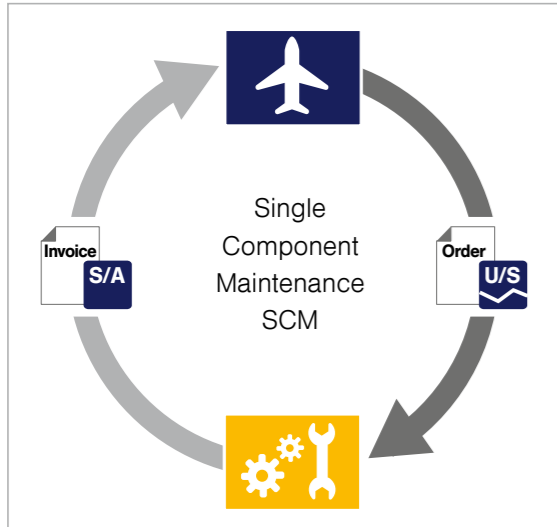

We drive excellence in engineering and MRO. The most extensive in-house repair capabilities in the world are at your disposal. They are designed to increase on-wing times and keep your aircraft flying.

Lean approaches and continuous improvement programs allow us to develop innovative products with short and reliable turnaround times.

Lufthansa Technik quality to go

Benefit from the quality of the world's leading provider of component maintenance, approved by more than 40 authorities worldwide. Whatever challenges you are facing, we will keep you flying. We are your competence center for component MRO from a single source, and meeting your needs is what drives us.

Experienced

Most-comprehensive services

Whatever aircraft type you are flying, we offer the most extensive capabilities for component repairs in the world. Take advantage of high quality and reliable turnaround times – supported by our vast and long-standing engineering experience gained from supporting fleets of every size and mix. With our innovative and cost-efficient repair methods, we offer you the best solutions.

Comprehensive

Everything is possible

Drawing from a broad array of flexible repair methods, from CMM repair to Lufthansa Technik developed repair methods, or even including your own requirements. The spectrum of services offered for SCM ranges from single events to exclusive long-term agreements. With the individual order handling, you always remain independent and flexible.

Flexible

The economical solution

Single Component Maintenance by Lufthansa Technik offers the best value for our customers. Our experience and our innovations drive cost-efficiency – you pay for services as you need them.

Competitive

Reliable Glocal

SCM features

We are a one-stop shop for single component MRO services with a broad range of capabilities and services:

- Test, repair, overhaul and modifications
- 55,000 P/N serviced
- All common aircraft types and technologies
- Improved quality through rogue unit handling
- Individual consulting from customer engineering
- High quality and long-term cost-efficiency
- Dispatch reliability at the lowest capital costs based on 60 years of everyday airline experience

Wherever you need us

Our global network covers every region, with local workshops and customer service teams supporting the entire life cycle of your components. You profit from the services of this unique global network.

Reliability around the clock

We know first-hand that meeting turnaround times is crucial for you in planning your repair cycles reliably. Take advantage of our world-class delivery-performance – with turnaround times you can rely on.

Fast

Americas

Phone +1-888-454-8676
sales@lhtcs.aero

Europe, Middle East & Africa

Phone +49-40-5070-70705
scm-eumea@lht.dlh.de

Asia-Pacific

Phone +852-2846-6317
scm-apac@lht.dlh.de

Capabilities

www.lufthansa-technik.com/clip

